

Speak out for Affordable Housing!

City Council Budget Public Hearing

Seattle is rapidly becoming two cities: A playground for the wealthy, while the rest of us face soaring housing costs and gentrification. The crushing inequality especially falls hard on immigrants and communities of color, along with the LGBTQ community, who feel the brunt of a political establishment that puts profits before people.

Let's pack city hall demand this year's budget reflect the needs of the working and oppressed people of Seattle, not the billionaires and corporations!

For funding for lawyers to represent tenants facing evictions, for renter's rights organizing, for Indigenous People's Day, and more.

Thurs Oct 3

City Hall - 600 4th Ave

4pm Press Conference

5:30pm Public Hearing

 Councilmember
Kshama Sawant
@cmkshama kshama.sawant@seattle.gov 206-684-8014

2019 People's Budget Town Hall

Some Previous People's Budget Victories

$29 million for affordable housing following success of Block the Bunker campaign, preventing $160 million to police.

First-ever City funded legal support for renters facing eviction.

Annual funds for Indigenous People's Day celebration.

Funds for LGBTQ Health Center at Nova High School in Central District.

Tues Oct 8

6pm

City Hall

600 4th Ave

Should Seattle City Council pass yet another business as usual budget? Or should we build a movement to fight for a budget that fully funds education, transit, social services, and affordable housing?

Come to this organizing meeting to discuss our goals, and a strategy to win!

 Councilmember
Kshama Sawant
@cmkshama kshama.sawant@seattle.gov 206-684-8014